PASTORAL LETTER from the Co – Superintendent, Revd Jayne Webb

Dear Friends,

As we approach Christmas with all the services, mission and general festivities, as much as we love this time of the year, it is also one of our busiest. In many of our churches plans have been underway for exhibitions and Christmas fairs pretty much since the start of the connexional year in September. As I have travelled around the circuit, getting to know people and churches, such plans have been shared with me and it is really good to see how the anticipation of the season is already radiating hope.

It's not just planning for Christmas that has kept our churches busy though, I have been encouraged to hear of some wonderful projects taking place as our churches continue to share the good news across the county through new projects, service, mission and outreach. But it would be false to paint a wholly bright and hopeful picture, for alongside the positive planning, preparing and general work of the church community there is also a level of weariness, a degree of despondency when there are not enough people able to actively engage in mission, and a sense of fatigue at the level of secular and administrative work that threatens to overwhelm our good intentions to serve God.

This did make me wonder how often our church communities take time out just to simply be rather than to feel the constant need to do. There is something to be said for the church away day, or even a weekend, when the people of God can share in a time of rest, reflection and restoration. Indeed it is often the case that in these times of simply being we are more inclined to hear the still small voice of God rather than in the often turbulent times of all the doing. It is out of such quiet, reflective times that we find the creative spirit emerging to inspire us in ways we may never have otherwise thought of.

A time of rest is important for all people, whether it is in the form of a sabbatical, annual leave, a day off each week or even a few hours each day. Indeed such an imperative is this that it is written into the very story of creation as God takes the 7th day as a day of rest, and later deems this to be a practice that all should follow. For the church, Sunday was deemed the day set aside for God, when worldly work should be kept to a minimum. And it's not been so very long ago when this was part of the structure of society. Shops and other places of work didn't open on Sunday's. This was a special day of the week set aside for worship, for time with family and friends, and for rest; in other words sacred time.

Today no such boundaries exist as working life goes on 24/7. I am sure many of us leave the Sunday morning service and head off to the supermarket on the way home because it is convenient to do so. Yet the principle of the sabbath does not have to disappear as secular life takes over. Being intentional about carving out sacred time, perhaps for an hour a day, a day each week and a few weeks each year is vital for our spiritual well being as individuals and as church communities. God is very prescriptive about this!

So as the days and weeks unfold, and as the busyness of Christmas recedes. I wonder if your church would benefit from a time of retreat - even just for a day or an afternoon? Could you personally be more intentional about taking sabbath time out, no matter which day of the week you take it, to spend time with God in nature or in creative pursuits; the operative word here being 'intentional' no walk in nature is restful if we spend the entire time worrying about all that needs to be done when we get back! Why not buck the trend and forget about the protestant work ethic, for that was never ordained by God - Sabbath rest however was.

So here is a challenge for you all. Rather than focusing on all the great things you have or have not been able to do in recent times, challenge yourselves to simply take time to be still with God, to rest in the peace Christ came to share with us, for if we don't are we not rather missing the whole point of the coming season..

As Wendell Berry puts it: "Sabbath observance invites us to stop. It invites us to rest. It asks us to notice that while we rest, the world continues without our help."

Blessings,

Jayne

PS - Does your church have a beautiful garden or a peaceful location where we might point people to in order to enjoy such restful space? I know there are quite a few in the circuit and was delighted to discover Fairford's garden recently. Please let me know and let us see if we can promote spaces for sabbath rest across the circuit. J

PREACHER AND CHURCH NEWS

We were saddened to hear of the deaths of Revd John Beardsley and Peter Richardson. John was a supernumerary minister ordained in 1965 who passed away on 21 October. He preached at churches across the circuit and was, for many years, a Circuit Archivist. John was married to Eileen, a Local Preacher, and had been worshipping at Tewkesbury. Accredited as a Local Preacher in 2001, Peter was an active preacher at churches across the circuit before illness forced him to step down. A supporter of Boys Brigade, Walk to Emmaus, Churches Together and Open the Book, Peter also served as Local Preachers' and Worship Leaders' Secretary and regularly attended the Circuit Assembly meetings with his wife, Lesley. We give thanks for the lives of John and Peter and hold their family and friends in our prayers.

Christine Colby, accredited as a Local Preacher in 2001, will be leaving the circuit in December to move nearer to family in Scotland. Christine has regularly preached at churches across the circuit and we will miss her hard work and devotion. We wish Christine well with the move.

We offer our congratulations to Revd Keith Burton, ordained as a minister in 1964 who has completed 60-years of service and to Revd Martin Turner, ordained as a minister in 1974 who has completed 50 years of service. We thank Keith and Martin for their work, witness and worship throughout the years.

We give our thanks to Adele Garner, who has stepped down as Local Preachers' and Worship Leaders' Secretary after 10 years of service. Islay Roberts was appointed to take over this role at the Circuit Assembly in September.

Contact details for Visiting Preachers can be found in this plan, all other preachers are shown in the Circuit Directory.
